FOR EXTRA SESSION

ST. LOUIS POST- DISPATCH SEEKS IMMEDIATE ACTION.

Gives Reasons Why People Should Be Relieved of Iniquitous Tariff Taxes as Quickly as Possible.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch presents the following reasons why an extra session of congress should be called for immediate revision of the tariff:

Because the wool and woolen schedule (K) of the Payne-Aldrich tariff is "indefensible," according to President Taft. A woolen blanket, imported last week from Glasgow, weight 36 pounds, value $22, paid duty at 33 cents a pound and 40 per cent. additional. That is $20.68 on a $22 blanket; freight, storage, etc., $4.04, or $24.72 "protection" to be added to the American selling price of foreign and domestic woolen blankets, plus the retailer's profits on the duty-more than a doubling of the price to the con-

Because the American woolen trust gets the lion's share of these outrageous taxes in added prices on its products. In 1907 the United States treasury got only $33,000 revenue from a year's importation of woolen blankets. The tariff tax was prohibitory. But the trust got double prices on all its enormous product sold to the American monopolized market.

Because this system applies to all woolen cloth, to woolen garments, to woolen underwear, to woolen dress goods for women and children, to all woolen fabrics covered by the infamous schedule K.

Because these prohibitory duties on woolens lay the lives of the people, during the winter, open to consumption and pneumonia. "Shoddy" at a high taxed price, must do for warm woolen garments among the poor.

Because flannels for underwear are taxed (schedule K) on from 86.39 per cent. up to 143.67 per cent. and the highest tariff tax is put on the cheapest grades for common use.

Because the tariff tax (schedule K) on women's and children's woolen dress goods average 100 per cent. thus doubling the price, or causing a scaling down of this quality.

Because this schedule K was the result of a corrupt deal between the woolen trust managers of New England and the political "standpat" senators of the northwestern states, representing a few millionaire wool grow-

Because the consumers, nearly 100,-000,000 Americans, were not considered in this corrupt deal and President Taft stated he was unable to break it up when the Aldrich tariff was hatched in the senate.

Because the people voted last November to smash this blood tax at once, along with the other tolls on food, cotton cloth, steel and iron, lumber, paper, coal, building mate-rials and all the necessaries of life. Do the people want it down now-or when they are passed away and a tariff commission "reports progress?"

The Falsity of "Protection." Should protection make one a pewter plate beside him for the trust and all other trusts more for their goods than they are worth "As O'Grady lay there, so still, with abroad, it would be buried in a deep grave, face downward, with no other mourners at the funeral than the enriched beneficiaries who had grown and were growing corpulent through and guise of protecting the public.

The awakening evidenced in the recent election does not indicate an impoverishment of the people, but it avidences an indignant public's comirs into an intelligent understanding of the real purpose and results of modern protection, it becoming a recognized fact that equitable government and protection are incompatible, and that vitality in the one works the extinguishment of the other.

Protection means donation of one man's earnings to another man's enrichment, and the discrimination is the same whether the donation be 10 per cent. or 25 per cent., hence there is no such thing as scientific adjustment of schedules unless it be construction of a scheme for scientific methods of graft. Any movement, therefore, for readjustment of tariff schedules from the standpoint of protestion is a move to perpetuate graft in some degree.-From a Letter from H. B. Kelly to a Member of Congress.

Their Cause for Gloom. The prospect that congress may not finish its work by March 4 and that a special session may be necessary is said to be an occasion of gloom at Washington. Undoubtedly. It would mean that a lot of jobholders would lose their salaries in March instead of next December. No prospect is better calculated to cause g. o. p.

Must Be in the Beginning. Declaring for a "genuine, permanent and thorough-going tariff commission," Senator Beverldge asserts that "we will get it in the end." It will have to be in the beginning-of a tariff framed for business instead of Senator Aldrich proposes, presumably as a "feeler," not a central bank but a "Reserve Association of America," with a capital of $300,000,000. The question is for the present an academic one.

Publicity and Punishment.

We approve his timely phrase, so far as the corporation is concerned; but for offending individuals controlling it, we beg to suggest that a joyless jauntto jail would be a fitting and complementary corrective. - Financial

The Fountain Head. The opinion of the strongest ways the best.—La Fontaine. TO FRAME THE TARIFF BILLS

Personnel of Committee Selected by the Democrats to Do Important Work.

The country will be interested in the 14 Democratic representatives se-lected by the caucus in Washington to frame the tariff bills that will be introduced in the Sixty-second congress. Of the 14 Democrats who are to form the majority of the ways and means committee in the next congress, four are minority members of the committee in this congress: Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama, Francis Burton Harrison of New York, Choice Boswell Randell of Texas, and William G. Brantley of Georgia. It is worthy of note that only four came from important manufacturing cities: Mr. Under wood, who will be chairman of the committee, from Birmingham, which has blast furnaces, rolling mills, steel works and railroad machine shops; Mr. Harrison from New York, Mr. Andrew James Peters of Massachusetts from Boston, and Mr. William Hughes of New Jersey from Paterson, which has locomotive and bridge works and manufactures of cotton, wool, silk, linen and velvets.

Ten of the men who will frame the tariff bills come from small towns. For instance, the Hon. Cordell Hull of Tennessee, from Carthage, which in 1900 had a population of 600; the Hon. Ollie James of Kentucky from Marion (1,064); the Hon, Claude Kitchin of North Carolina from Scotland Neck (1,348); the Hon. W. S. Hammond of Minnesota from St. James (2,967); the Hon. Henry T. Rainey of Illinois from Carrollton (2,355); the Hon. Lincoln Dixon of Indiana from North Vernon (2.823); and the Hon. A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania from Stroudsburg (3,450). The remaining three are claimed by more populous communi-ties: The Hon. Dorsey W. Shackleford of Missouri by Jefferson City (9,664), which has foundries, shoe and carriage factories, breweries and cigar manufactures; the Hon. C. B. Randell of Texas by Sherman (10,243), which boasts machine shops, foundries, cotton, cotton-seed oil and flour mills; and the Hon. William G. Brantley of Georgia by Brunswick (9,081), which has cotton mills and canning and cotton compress factories and is a phosphate port. The veteran of the Democratic tariff bill framers is Mr. Underwood, who dates from the Fifty-fourth congress; Mr. Brantley made his bow in the Fifty-fifth; Mr. Shackleford made his first appearance in the Fifty-sixth; Mr. Randell in the Fifty-seventh; Mr. James, Mr. Hughes, Mr. Kitchin and Mr. Rainey in the Fifty-eighth; Mr. Dixon in the Fifty-ninth; Mr. Harrison, Mr. Hammond, Mr. Hull and Mr. Peters in the Sixtieth, and Mr. Palmer in the Sixty-first.

Foreign Trade-Domestic Rights. "Build up foreign trade if you can, but do not do it at the expense of the American people," said Mr. Frank B. Kellogg, special assistant to the attorney general, in his argument on the Standard Oil case before the Supreme court.

There seems no sound justification for the practice of selling abroad of American manufactures at lower rates than are charged in the domestic market. Yet this practice is common under the existing tariff system. Pro-tection is demanded for the American manufacturer, but it is frequently used, not for protection against foreign competition, but as license to operate domestic monopolies.

The real status of the American manufacturer, as to his needs of protection is shown when he sells in an unprotected country like England, for example. Yet congress continues to grant protection to the sugar trust while that trust shows that it can sell its products in England, marine freight added, for approximately two cents per pound less than it exacts in this country, where it has a monopoly. And sugar is only one of very many American products sold for less abroad than at home.

Would Increase Power of Senate.

The house of representatives is more responsive to the wishes of the people than the senate, not because it is larger, but because its members are elected directly by the people every two years. The framers of the constitution intended that it should be the more responsive body and that the senate should be a check upon it.

The house, however, is not a good legislative body. It is big and clumsy and unwieldly. That is why the senate has become more powerful than the house in shaping legislation. Its smaller membership enables the senate to debate measures more thoroughly and to give the necessary attention to all the details of important bills under consideration.

Increasing the size of the house will still further increase the influence of the senate,-New York World.

Longworth's Tariff Bill. But what did these people who are ondemning the Longworth tariff commission bill er ect from the gentleman from Cincinnati, in the light of Longworth's record as written in the acts of the Ohio legislature and his terms in congress? Was there anything to warrant the expectation that he would prepare a tariff commission bill in the interests of the public? Why should he be expected to change at this stage of his career?-Youngs-town (Ohio) Vindicator.

PAINFUL FINGER NAILS CURED

"I have suffered from the same trouble (painful finger nails) at different periods of my life. The first time of its occurrence, perhaps twenty-five years ago, after trying home remedies without getting helped, I asked my doctor to prescribe for me, but it was not for a year or more that my nails and fingers were well. The inflammation and suppuration began at the base of the finger nail. Sometimes it was so painful that I had to use a poultice to induce suppuration. After the pus was discharged the swelling would go down until the next period of inflammation, possibly not more than a week or two afterwards. These frequent inflammations resulted in the loss of the nail. I had sometimes as many as three fingers in this state at

"Perhaps ten years later I began again to suffer from the same trouble. Again I tried various remedies, among them a prescription from a doctor of a friend of mine, who had suffered from a like trouble. This seemed to help somewhat for a time, but it was not a permanent cure; next tried a prescription from my own doctor, but this was so irritating to the sensitive, diseased skin that I could not use it. began to use Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I had used the Cuticura Ointment previously on my children's scalps with good effect. I did not use the Soap exclusively, but I rubbed the Cuticura Ointment into the base of the nail every night thoroughly, and as often beside as I could. I had not used it but a few weeks before my nails were better, and in a short time they were apparently well. There was no more suppuration, nor inflammation, the nails grew out clean again. One box of Cutleura Ointment was all that I used in effecting a cure." (Signed) Mrs. I. J. Horton, Katonah, N. Y., Apr. 13, 1910. Digging Spruce Gum. There will be a crusade in spruce gum digging in the Maine woods this winter. About twenty men will leave Skowhegan within a short time to begin gum digging operations near Jackman. Gum has grown scarce in the last few years and the demand is so great that it has become a business to many Maine men. Last year James Carey, Frank Croning and Joe Cass dug 1 300 nounds and sold it all in Maine. It is estimated that from 50,-000 to 100,000 pounds will be dug this season.-Kennebec (Me.) Journal.

Sheer white goods, in fact, any fine wash goods when new, owe much of their attractiveness to the way they are laundered, this being done in a manner to enhance their textile beauty. Home laundering would be equally satisfactory if proper attention was given to starching, the first essential being good Starch, which has sufficient strength to stiffen, without thickening the goods. Try Defiance Starch and you will be pleasantly surprised at the improved appearance of your work.
